++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
A mostly fine, breezy start. Increasing chance of rain later.

Today:
A widely dry, mainly bright and breezy morning. Some showers across the Pennines hills however. Cloud thickening to bring more frequent periods of rain by the afternoon, with a chance for strong winds along coasts. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Tonight:
Rain and strong winds easing through the evening. Becoming mainly dry by midnight away from western hills, with clear periods developing overnight. Turning chilly in rural areas. Minimum temperature 5 deg C (41 deg F).

Sunday:
A bright start for many. Cloudier with a few showers in the north and west. Sunny spells and scattered showers by afternoon. Generally breezy, but occasionally windy over exposed hills. Maximum temperature 14 deg C (57 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Sunshine and showers through Monday, heavy at times and perhaps thundery. Likely becoming wet and windy again on Tuesday, then an improving picture Wednesday as rain and strong winds ease.
